"Marbella, Marbella"

by Dario Poli

Scottish born Dario Poli known by his contemporaries as the "Renaissance man" is a published author, musician, painter and illustrator and his specialist subject is Nostradamus and has written numerous published short stories and articles for exclusive magazines like the "X Magazine," "I Style" and "Marbella International" Dario's life has been an eventful one of travel, music and intellectual adventure in many parts of the world, especially when performing on International Cabaret with his sister Delia, when they worked with several of the most famous international stars such as Olivia Newton-John, Buddy Greco, the late great Dave Allen, and in the recording studios with Engelbert; just to mention a few. He has appeared on TV and Radio in Spain and the UK being a "New Faces" ATV TV winner, and has written hundreds of songs and two film scores. Dario has co-written the dramatic musical drama, "Lady X and The Power of Destiny" with Patrick Lloyd Hulme. It is a mystical story based on the life of the late Princess Diana, which was recorded in Dublin, by a large symphony orchestra and singers, including some singers from 'Riverdance.' Dario is waiting to have the large show performed on stage. As a painter "His drawings and paintings are often 'other worldly'. Classical allusion and haunting restraint together with suggestions of a more romantic mood work an unusual alchemy, " which Paul Chave (the Sunday Times photographic prizewinner) described as, "a combination of Edvard Munch, Salvador Dali and William Blake." Following a CCN TV documentary on Marbella and the Costa del Sol which painted a very negative image of Marbella, Dario did something positive to redress the balance and wrote the music to the song "Marbella, Marbella". This has now been recorded and many local radio stations are playing the song. In fact the song has been played as far afield as Germany, Austria, Liechtenstein and Thailand. Support for Dario and "Marbella, Marbella" is growing and it is hoped that this song will go a long way to recognize the fact that we live in a great part of the world and to help to entice property buyers and tourists back to our beautiful coast.
